CORPORATE PROFILE

CORONIS Research is a leading Contract Research Organization (CRO), with a 20-year presence in Greece and operations in Cyprus and Bulgaria. Today, CORONIS is the partner of choice for many international pharmaceutical, biotechnology and medical device companies.

Our extensive range of services covers the full spectrum of product development and commercialization, ensuring the successful execution of the research and commercial plan of any new treatment: from the initial stages of research, marketing authorization, pricing and reimbursement, to the post-marketing monitoring of its safe and adherent use through pharmacovigilance services and patient support programs. CORONIS effectively supports any product across all phases of its life-cycle, following the highest quality standards and leveraging advanced scientific tools by a team of experienced and specialized professionals.

As one of the founding members of the Hellenic Association of CROs (HACRO) and an active member of the European Federation of CROs (EUCROF), CORONIS is at the forefront of industry changes and developments.
